Curriculum Design for English at Cranbury College

Our Humanities curriculum at Cranbury College helps students make sense of the world around them through the study of History, Geography, and Religious Studies/Philosophy. It is enquiry-led, encouraging curiosity, empathy, and critical thinking through big questions that explore people, places, beliefs, and events. Lessons are designed to be engaging, relevant, and accessible, often using practical, discussion-based, and creative approaches to help students connect their own experiences to wider global issues.

We recognise that our students arrive with a range of experiences and starting points, so our curriculum is flexible and responsive to their needs. Humanities develops transferable skills such as research, analysis, communication, and decision-making, preparing students for life beyond Cranbury. In Key Stage 4, students have opportunities to gain appropriate qualifications, including WJEC Entry Level Certificates and AQA unit awards. Above all, we aim for every student to leave Cranbury with a deeper understanding of the world, respect for others, and the confidence to play an active, thoughtful role
